At PizzaExpress, your dietary requirements and lifestyle choices are just as important to us as they are to you or your loved ones. We understand that some people may want to avoid more than the 14 allergens classified by the EU Food Information Regulation. Therefore, since 2014, we have declared the 14 allergens plus 8 additional ingredients in our Allergen Information guide. This guide is available on our website, app, and in our restaurants by scanning the QR code below or by asking our team for the allergen folder.

The guide below indicates which ingredients are present within our much-loved recipes, providing greater clarity and better choices for everyone. All our wonderful seasonal additions are listed at the end of this document.

Even if you have chosen an item previously, please ensure you check this guide each time you visit us and always inform your waiter of any allergies, intolerances, or dietary requirements when ordering.

There are times when some of our popular ingredients may be out of stock, necessitating the purchase of additional stock locally. We have guidance in place for our teams, and all ingredients are purchased from reputable sources; however, ingredients may vary. Just ask, and we will be able to advise.

This document is for informational purposes only and does not replace the Allergen Information guide. "May contain" claims are not listed within this document; please refer to the Allergen Information guide for this information.

As our suppliers handle numerous allergens and our dishes are prepared in our busy kitchens, we cannot guarantee that they are 100% free from allergens or contaminants.
